

FALSE MARTYRS. TEARS HALO FROM REDS.

United States District Attorney Gives Evidence.

Hits Straight from Shoulder at Revolutionists.

Exposes Plots for Murders and Robbery.

Rabid socialist sympathizers of Magón, Villalón and Rivera, the imprisoned Mexican reds, received a decided rebuff yesterday when they attempted to influence the action of the United States District Attorney. A group of Pasadena agitators addressed an open letter to Mr. Lawler in which they protested against the imprisonment of the revolutionists.

Instead of disregarding what might have been deemed an attempt to influence Federal judicial procedure, Mr. Lawler, in a dignified and comprehensive reply, sets forth the reasons for the arrest and confinement of the men whom the socialists and labor unionists dub "martyrs."

In order to show that the government is amply justified in its course, the United States District Attorney quotes from letters sent by the prisoners, which show that they not only planned an armed expedition into a friendly republic, but were concerned in a plot to assassinate the President of Mexico.

The protest of the Pasadena sympathizers is but one of many epithets and personal appeals to the local Federal authorities to force them to refrain from prosecuting the three leaders of the Mexican junta. Recently the Western Federation of Miners voted to contribute to the so-called "defense fund," and socialists and labor unionists all over the country have united in a campaign to compel the government to deal leniently with the revolutionists.

Many privileges were accorded the prisoners in the County Jail, until it was discovered that they were abusing the confidence of the United States Marshal by sending out inflammatory messages to their followers and were receiving communications highly prejudicial to the friendly relations between this country and Mexico.

For these reasons, Federal authorities ordered that the revolutionists be kept incommunicado until their removal to Arizona. This order was the result of an avalanche of abuse and invective. The local government officers have been assailed with insults and threatened with personal violence if they do not rescind the obnoxious order.

In line with other documents of similar nature, the Pasadena agitators sent the following to Mr. Lawler:

"We, the undersigned, citizens of Pasadena, do hereby protest against the imprisonment and holding of the Mexican patriots in the Los Angeles County Jail, incommunicado, at the behest of the Mexican government."

In his reply Mr. Lawler states: "If the parties in whose behalf the resolution was adopted, have violated the laws of our country, it is my duty to take the same course with them which would be taken concerning any other malefactor, and it is my duty to do nothing which will tend to prevent the law's vindication through visitation upon them of its prescribed penalties."

LAW FOR PROSECUTION.
The law under which Magón, Villalón and Rivera were prosecuted is quoted in full. It reads as follows: "Every person who, within the territory or jurisdiction of the United States, begins or sets on foot or provides or procures the means for any military expedition or enterprise to be carried on from thence against the territory or dominions of any foreign State or people with whom the United States are at peace, shall be deemed guilty of a high misdemeanor and shall be fined not exceeding $3000 and imprisoned not exceeding three years."

In commenting upon this law, Mr. Lawler says: "This law has been upon the statute books for more than 100 years, and its enactment was due in large measure to the suggestion of Gen. Washington, who, while President of the United States, said: 'Where individuals shall enter upon military enterprises within the jurisdiction of the United States, those offenses cannot be too early and close attention and require prompt and decisive remedies.'"

"Magón, Villalón and Rivera are Mexican citizens who have been for several years domiciled in the United States. As visitors within our borders, it would seem that the least they could do would be to obey our laws. Not only, however, have they utterly failed in this, but have committed the crime of the United States, said: 'Where individuals shall enter upon military enterprises within the jurisdiction of the United States, those offenses cannot be too early and close attention and require prompt and decisive remedies.'"

PLOT TO ASSASSINATE.
To substantiate his assertion that the three leaders of the Mexican junta are not only ordinary criminals, but are concerned in a plot to assassinate the President of Mexico, Mr. Lawler quotes from letters written by the prisoners to some of their followers.

These documents form a part of the evidence upon which the defendants will be tried in the Arizona court, and are a striking example of the disposition of the men called "martyrs" by mind sympathizers.

The following is an excerpt from a letter written by Magón to Martínez, one of the agitators: "The authorities of the United States will not permit the entering in our country of people under arms; so, therefore, plan the entering of compatriots under arms secretly. The United States will not permit the organization of forces within its territory, so that the neutral principles between the two nations may not be disturbed. You must act with all reserve, being careful that there should be no information that will interfere with the march of the revolutionary organization. We must first of all get rid of our rulers. They will be ample time afterward to subdue the foreigners. The rulers are the cause of all our ills and they must be changed."

In a letter from Magón and Rivera to Martínez, it is stated: "Those who from now on should give information about the acts or projects of the junta will become condemned to death and shall be executed by the revolutionary forces or by special agents."

REVOLUTIONARY PLANS.
In another letter written by Magón to one of his lieutenants, he states: "You have thought well your plan for taking Nogales. It is well to go along considering other plans to the taking of other places. The more the revolution is divided, the harder it will be to subdue. The junta is working hard to secure funds for the revolution. I am sure that Roosevelt will do all in his power to prevent the fall of his ally, Díaz."

In the general instructions issued by the leaders, it is stated: "If the outbreak in Cananea, which is expected any moment, takes place, all and each of the revolutionary groups shall immediately appear in arms. The revolutionary groups shall secure funds and elements from the offices and warehouses of the government and in the hands of the government favorites. The tyrants will be shot down without formation of cause."

Mr. Lawler, in commenting upon these documents, states that they form but a mere suggestion of the vast quantity of proof in the hands of the government, which show the character of the enterprise in which these men were engaged.

"In reference to the detention of the prisoners, incommunicado, against which you protest," continues the United States District Attorney, "they had themselves through the press announced that from their places of confinement they were in direct communication with parties engaged in active hostility against the Mexican authorities and were giving directions as to the conduct of the hostile movement."

DUTY OF COUNTRY.
"Up to the time of these announcements, these men had been accorded unusual liberties and privileges as prisoners. The duty of this country, however, in so far as its relations with the Mexican government were concerned, not only requires it to do right but to avoid suspicion of doing wrong. To accomplish this result, necessitated preventing intercourse by these defendants with any persons other than their counsel."

The Federal authorities believe that this frank discussion of the status of the "reds" cases will go far in putting a quietus upon sentimental protests against the continued imprisonment of the three Mexicans.

If there had been a frivolous appeal to the United States Supreme Court, the defendants by this time would be in Arizona where they could be accepted and disposition made of the cases.

Mr. Lawler believes that many persons are really ignorant of the reasons back of the imprisonment of the junta leaders and he thought that a careful and unprejudiced review of the evidence might appeal to patriotic citizens.

"A CRE" STORE IN READINESS.

HAMBURGER'S OPEN TOMORROW AT NEW LOCATION.

Great Crowd Is Expected at the Start of Broadway Store, but Spacious Aisles Will Swallow Thousands Without Discomfort—Many Novelties Will Attract Attention.

The new Hamburger store, Eighth and Broadway, will open for business tomorrow morning. The store contains, approximately, fifteen acres of floors and there are 800 feet of window frontage. The tremendous task of moving in and furnishing is getting its finishing touches today. An enormous crowd is expected at the opening of the doors.

Through the main doorway on Broadway, with an arch twenty-eight feet above the paving, the big store is entered. The first cross-aisle is almost a city block long and is thirty-two feet wide between rows of columns.

Neckwear, veils, leather goods, silverware, jewelry and other stocks, cover 7000 square feet. Near by, drugs, perfumery, embroideries, handkerchiefs and lace, occupy about 4000 square feet. Women's eyes will also feast on embroidered gowns, displayed on models in this quarter.

The soda-water fountain is eighty feet long.

The center aisle, as wide as a grand boulevard, gives access to what has been christened "Siltown." Here, ladies can inspect tens of thousands of patterns, literally by the acre. Dress goods, colored and white wash goods are also displayed by the acre.

Hamburger's "Place" is a meeting ground for all nations, hereabouts, and here also women shoppers will find a branch of Uncle Sam's postoffice, express and telegraph offices, likewise a paper pattern department.

At the corner, marking Hill and Eighth streets, is the bedding and blanket department, also "housekeepers' dirty land" not far away.

Wandering about, the shopper comes across what looks like a huge depot filled with trunks and traveling bags enough to send half Los Angeles traveling; and if a last word is needed, to a friend, the stationery counters are not far away.

An interesting feature is the bookshelves and the nooks where tired shoppers may sit and read.

One of the things in the big store sure to mystify, is the chute that swallows the packages, large or small, and sends them flying to the basement, unharmed. This is the first of its kind in this part of the country. It will save many weary steps for cash boys and packers.

The clothing department covers 14,000 square feet, where may be bought anything from a pair of overalls to a full dress suit.

There is a barber shop, shoe store, a big display of children's furnishings, and a women's shoe store, on latest lines.

For women who in for burnt wood, embroidery, decorations and souvenirs, there will be found acres of these classes of merchandise. The Kodak stand also has much to interest him, hereabouts.

For the bargain hunters, there will be a perfect dream of bliss—thirty bargain tables.

Who wish to go upstairs, you take the moving stairway and it whisks you up without a jolt. There is a fine rest room near at hand, with settees and chairs for at least 100 women.

In the near-by emergency hospital is a trained nurse and a doctor.

The big store makes it possible to buy a homestead and then outfit your home.

There are 25,000 square feet devoted to house furnishings, carpets, rugs, hangings, pictures; also 27,000 square feet, containing ready-to-wear garments for women and children.

The display of mirrors, in the millinery department, is exceptionally fine, and there are acres of the latest hats for the fair sex.

It is expected that the Los Angeles public library will be installed on the third floor within a few weeks.

The display of furniture, crockery, pianos and housefurnishing goods is exceedingly large, and is found on the third floor. There is also a magnificent display of cut glass, and there is a table 400 feet long, for electrolights and statuary.

The big restaurant is on the fourth floor, also the grocery department, bakery, fruit store, and meat market.

The fifth and sixth floors carry the reserve stock, and on the roof garden, the roof garden. The big basement has many attractions.

A Cool, Interesting and Healthful Three Weeks' Trip

Party Will Leave Los Angeles Via The Superb Electric Lighted and Luxurious

LOS ANGELES LIMITED

(Fans in Every Car)

Of the Scenic Salt Lake Route, Saturday, Aug. 15, 1908 at 10 A.M.

The Itinerary

The itinerary of the fifth personally conducted tour of the season covers a very delightful cutting, by rail and water, that embodies travel through two of the most marvelous and grandly scenic portions of the great Northwest, the Yellowstone National Park and the Puget Sound country, and when this is added an ocean voyage of 1200 miles and an inland trip of several hundred miles on a magnificent new 5000-ton steel passenger steamer, the wonderful journey becomes more interesting and fascinating.

To the semi-invalid or the careworn business man and woman in need of rest, this particular trip affords opportunity to recuperate and obtain new nerve power, and while inhaling the ozone of mountain and sea is able to commune with nature in all its sublimity.

The party, as all Grafton parties are, will be personally conducted, thus insuring to patrons freedom from cares incident to traveling in the ordinary way, as the conductor in charge assumes any worry about baggage, sleeping and other little annoyances of a lengthy journey; and when a hotel is reached, how pleasant it is to find that there is a room awaiting you. It is comfortable and restful to know that you can travel several thousand miles with nothing to do but eat, sleep and look. The personally conducted way is the only way to see it all, and to know all about what you see.

CHRISTIAN GLOBE TROTTER.

Student Secretary of Y.W.C.A. to Tell of World Tour at Vesper Service Today.

An attractive feature of the vesper service this afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. will be an address by Miss Bertha Conde, who has just returned from a tour around the world. She will tell of the places she has visited and the people whom she met.

Miss Conde is one of the national student secretaries of the Y.W.C.A., and her trip was made in the interest of her work. She started from New York City, and arrived in San Francisco a few days ago from China.

One of the traveler's most interesting experiences was at Glasgow, where she was a student for three months at a famous theological seminary. She was the first woman ever allowed to matriculate there.

BLUE GOOSE BANQUET.
Thirty-five members of the Ancient and Honorable Order of the Blue Goose, an organization of insurance men, celebrated with their annual banquet at the Hotel Hayward last night.

Following the banquet, the members spent the evening telling stories. The banquet was held under the direction of a committee composed of George L. McIntyre, W. D. Whelan, P. H. Griffith, Charles J. Quintow, Charles Van Valkenberg, J. E. Crandall, L. H. Lord, L. P. Stephens, J. P. Howard, C. H. Robins, J. P. Yates and E. A. Rowe.

FORTUNE IN TAPESTRIES.
A valuable collection of ancient tapestries is housed in a small room at the Van Nuys for a few days. It belongs to the largest collector of tapestries in the world, a relative of E. Chapman Smith, formerly of Philadelphia, but who for the past two years has resided in Pasadena for the benefit of his health. E. E. Hewlett, a local attorney, and Mr. Smith are showing the tapestries to only a few friends. They are valued at more than $200,000, and are heavily insured against damage of any sort. Money could not purchase them, since the owner, a Philadelphia millionaire, has refused offers of fabulous sums.

"IN Badder THAN YOU."
Nat Sizer, 12 years old, of No. 610 Bunker Hill avenue, suffered a dislocated ankle when a "Seeing Los Angeles" automobile ran him down at Sixth and Main streets, yesterday morning. Soon after he arrived at the Receiving Hospital, another boy, Henry Brunholt, of No. 321 Merritt street, was carried in. He had stepped on a piece of glass and cut his foot. During the operation he cried out several times: "Young Sizer turned toward the other youth and scornfully remarked: 'Say, feller, be a sport and cut out that crying. I'm in badder than you.'"

RELIEF CORPS BENEFIT.
Uncle Sam W. R. C. will give a whist party and dance tomorrow evening at No. 517 South Broadway. The proceeds will go into the funds of the order for relief work.
